

Sirs; Please do not change, alter, or lessen the current policy restrictions of the Do Not Call List. We signed up at the initial beginning of the Do Not Call List and see no reason to change its restrictions to satisfy the banking industry, or any other telemarketers. If someone changed their banking business, they must of had reason for doing so. They don't need to be constantly harassed by aggravating phone calls from bank telemarketers. Thanks, Sincerely, Dan & Doris Cross.
